Message from the Director

The latest edition of the SDF Newsletter underscores what a busy and vibrant community the SDF has become, particularly at this time of year.

It was a pleasure to see many of you – especially students – at the very successful SDF Fall Conference at UBC and CFB Esquimalt.

I was also quite pleased to visit many of you at your universities as I made my way across the country.

With the holiday season fast upon us, please accept my best wishes at this peaceful and restful time of year.

Aaron Hywarren
Director Public Policy

2008 SDF Fall Conference

Canada and the Changing Strategic Environment: The Canada First Defence Strategy and Beyond
Vancouver and Esquimalt, BC, 23-25 Oct 08

The University of British Columbia's Centre of International Relations hosted the SDF Fall Conference on 23-25 Oct 08. The theme for the event was "Canada and the Changing Strategic Environment: The Canada First Defence Strategy and Beyond."

The conference was held on the UBC campus and at CFB Esquimalt.

The event brought together experts from all SDF centres, DND and the CF. Five panels, with some 21 papers, were presented. While at CFB Esquimalt, the participants heard from the Chief of Defence Staff, General Walt Natynczyk and had the opportunity to tour HMCS Ottawa.

Pictured below are the conference members, in front of HMCS Protecteur, which had returned the day before from deployment to the Persian Gulf as part of Operation ALTAIR.

For more information, please visit http://www.cir.ubc.ca/site_template/conference.html.

FOR THE STUDY OF WAR & SOCIETY

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK

The University of New Brunswick invites applicants for its new Gregg Centre Chair in Climate Change and Conflict
For Emerging Scholars

The University of New Brunswick is pleased to announce the establishment of the Gregg Centre Chair in Climate Change and Conflict for Emerging Scholars, a new research position affiliated with The Brigadier Milton F. Gregg, VC, Centre for the Study of War and Society. The Chair in Climate Change and Conflict is a centre-piece of The Gregg Centre's new interdisciplinary mandate, encompassing the study of war as a complex social phenomenon.

UNB is looking for a dynamic and innovative young scholar to hold this new research Chair. The Gregg Centre encourages applications from recently completed PhDs who have already demonstrated excellent potential as scholars in the emerging field of climate change and conflict, and from those in any of a wide variety of related fields — such as, but not restricted to, international relations, geography, anthropology, and climatology — who want to focus on climate change and conflict.

Applicants are asked to provide a three-year research proposal including plans for dissemination of their findings. The successful candidate will pursue an active research and publishing agenda, teach two courses per year in his/her field, and supervise graduate students at the MA level. The Chair holder should feel comfortable dealing with the media and exploiting the unique access to soldiers who have served in the world's trouble spots provided by nearby CFB Gagetown. Research support will be provided by the Gregg Centre, with the expectation that the successful candidate will also apply to the appropriate research granting agencies.

The successful candidate will be appointed to the Gregg Centre Chair for a term of five years, and will simultaneously be granted a tenure-track cross-appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor to an academic department.

Applications will be reviewed beginning 1 January 2009, with appointment no later than 1 July 2009. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply. The University of New Brunswick is committed to the principle of employment equity.

Please send a CV, research plan and three letters of reference to

Dr Marc Milner, Director

Policy Officer Recruitment Programme

WHAT IS IT?

The Department of National Defence is looking for qualified individuals to join the Policy Group at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa, Ontario. The Policy Officer Recruitment Programme is a five-year programme designed to recruit and develop talented Policy Officers to meet the unique demands of the defence policy environment.

WHAT IS INVOLVED?

Individual assignments vary. Policy Officers work in areas such as policy development, strategic analysis, international security policy and parliamentary affairs. They may also be assigned to other organizations within National Defence Headquarters, such as public affairs or strategic intelligence, or to other government departments and agencies. Policy Officers are asked to research a broad range of issues, deliver oral briefings, and prepare reports, analyses, speeches and other types of written material.

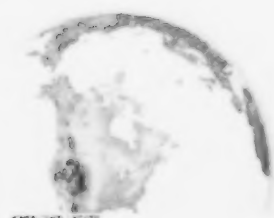

ARE YOU QUALIFIED?

Candidates must have a Master's degree in history, political science, international affairs, public administration (with a clear focus on public policy, governmental affairs or international relations) or a related discipline. They must also have experience in researching and writing on subjects related to defence, security and/or government policy at the graduate level. Candidates must be proficient in either English or French. Preference will be given to Canadian citizens.

HOW TO APPLY

Approximately ten new Policy Officers are hired into the programme annually through a competition managed by the Directorate of Public Policy. Please visit our website or attend your university's upcoming information session to learn more about the next competition.
